The Wizard's Daughter

A little bird
told me to head this way.
I'm so glad it
led me true.

*"Mother" in Japanese.

Just a cape
over pajamas?
You'll catch
your death
of cold.

Alaina.
You don't have
to stick around.
Go and change
out of those clothes.

The only difference is that we choose to gather in groups called covens.

Witches
are much
the same
as magi.

No, I
don't.
Think
go.

Has anyone ever told
you about
witches?

We spend our
time in our covens,
helping each other
make our way with simple rituals and gatherings.

Not that we really go
around calling
ourselves
witches.

Absolutely not.

OKAY.

It would still be mostly human, just with a slight echo of dragon.

It might not be as good as real dragon's blood, but it might work all the same.

CAN YOU TWO AGREE ON SOMETHING?

I mean nothing of the sort.

WHAT HE MEANS IS IT'S ALL RIGHT.

You have to remember that you're under a curse. Any part of yourself you give away stays under that curse. There's no telling what might befall the person you give it to.

I DON'T MIND THAT PART.

but giving away parts of yourself is not something to do lightly, for any price.

I'm telling you this because you seem to have missed it.

Wouldn't just a little be fine?

The Witch's Bride

We're even numbered right now. You need an odd number of members to have a majority vote.

A spot open?

And it just so happens we've got a spot open right now.

If you join my coven, all of us will help you since you'll be one of our own.

Like I said, witches specialize in curses.

It's forbidden to cast them, of course, so mostly it's the cures we deal with.

No.

It's not just the curse, either. We could use someone with your unique properties—

More than what a lone wolf of a misque like you could manage, certainly.

What's your problem? I'll admit, we've never tried at lifting a dragon's curse, but we're bound to have at least a few leads to follow among us.

We don't need
your help,
witch.

Your kind stand too close to the children of man. Lies
come easily
to you.

I'm not talking to you,
I'm talking
to her.

You must take us
for fools,
Pitum
Murialis.

...What,
do you think
we'd sell her
into slavery or something?

Do you honestly
think you have what it takes to help a young woman like her
find her way
in the world?

We wouldn't be so cruel
to a girl who might become one of us.

but I've still been around as a human woman
since poor Marie
parted ways
with her head.

I might be much younger
than you,

Ms.
Mariel?

Do you have a sure way
to lift the curse?

I'm her teacher.

It's my job to do that.

We'll just
be helping you
and asking for help in return.

That doesn't mean you'll be bound to us
or anything,
either.

Witches
don't betray
their kin.

If you join us,
we'll give you
all the support
we can muster.

*Everything
has a price.*

*We're
very free
people.*

*What
would
I have to do,*

to become one of you?

*Everything
we do
binds us.*

*Well, for starters
you can drop by
one of our gatherings, and be a guest.*

*Any time
you feel like it is fine, but
of course
sooner is better.*

...On second thought, never mind.

Do you want to know? I'll sell the info cheap.

Dragons are off limits.

...YOU SURE I CAN'T JUST HAVE A PIECE?

AND SO AM I.

Oh, could you tell me why you used... magic? At the auction?

This is the invitation. Open it when you've made up your mind.

I'll be waiting for a reply.

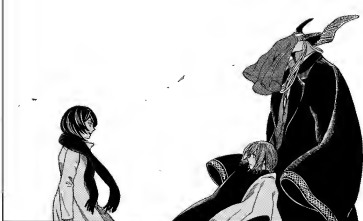

See you again soon!

All things in this world have shortcuts and hidden exits to help you get them, or get away from them.

Though, it's another matter entirely whether those paths are possible to take, and whether they should be taken, even if they can be.

The Sorcerer's Apprentice

I'm talking to you with the art of whispers.

*If this ends
up not working, either...*

*...I'll need
a backup.*

*My
curse
and yours.*

*...Who
knows,
they might interact nicely.*
